

Flattening an Image

a tutorial by Duckrabbit Digital

INTRODUCTION

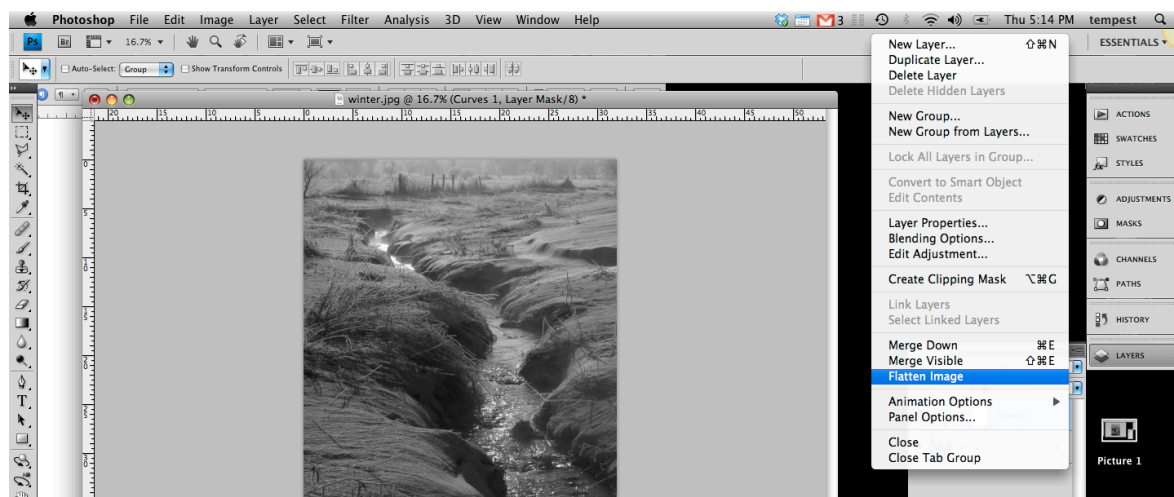

Flattening an image merges all the layers into one. This is important if you have performed adjustments to your image, as each layer increases the file-size by a goodly amount.

FLATTENING

Make sure that your 'layer' palette is open. If it isn't, click on the button on the right-hand side of the screen entitled 'layers'. If you can't find it, you can also go to the toolbar > window > layers.

Click on the icon that is on the upper right-hand side of the layers bar. Scroll down to the 'flatten image' option, click.

Alternately, you can use the menu at top. Go to layer > flatten image
